

Kenyan-led Community-led Research for All

Locally led research strengthens ownership, relevance and impact, helping turn evidence into action that benefits communities.

"You get solutions within the community. They are the ones who know how best to address the problems."

"Community members within the WITs should take the lead and facilities should provide support."

"Without community health promoters, there is no community health."

FOR MORE INFO:

