

Taming the Digital Beast

Better technology does not automatically mean better care. We need strong systems, quality data and supported health workers.

“

"It's not just about having the digital systems. It's people's ability to use it and interpret it."

"Systems are only as good as the data we put in. Garbage in, garbage out."

"If the digital tools are ineffective, we need to understand why and intervene to make them effective."

FOR MORE INFO:

